

Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Anson Yeager is the epitome of journalistic excellence in South Dakota and the upper midwest, having served in every conceivable journalistic post from Linotype operator to Associate Editor of the Argus Leader; and,

WHEREAS, Anson's journalistic acumen has been recognized time and again: South Dakota Sigma Delta Chi honored his series on loopholes for murder through the coroner system with the Outstanding Editorial Contributions Award in 1956, and his 1956 and 1957 analysis of idle funds in local government resulted in legislation allowing counties to invest in interest-bearing accounts providing thousands of dollars of revenues to local governments ever after. He also received an Honorary Doctor of Letters degree from Dakota State College in 1972, the 1976 Editorial Excellence Award from the William Allen White Foundation, and the 1981 Ralph D. Casey-Minnesota Award conferred by the School of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of Minnesota; and,

WHEREAS, Anson put his loyalty to our state and nation into action and from 1942-1946 and 1950-1952 he served in active duty with the United States Army and in the South Dakota National Guard from 1947 to 1964, retiring as a Lieutenant Colonel; and,

WHEREAS, Looking for more ways to improve his home state and community, Anson served two terms as a Director of the Sioux Falls Chamber of Commerce, served as the Director in 1967 of the Sioux Falls Development Foundation, donated his time in 1967 and 1972 as Director and Vice President of the Sioux Council of the Boy Scouts of America, is a former director of the Boys Club, and has taken active roles in the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Asbury United Methodist Church; and,

WHEREAS, Anson will retire from full-time journalism and is being honored by his colleagues on May 24:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim May 24, 1984, as in South Dakota, and I join all of South Dakota in thanking him for his tireless service to our people and in wishing him health and happiness in his retirement.
